EL PASO, Tex., June 17.—A band of Mexicans raided the San Juan Ranch near Fort Hancock below here and made off with 24 horses and mules according to news received at El Paso tonight. Andres Garcia, local Mexican consul, denied tonight he intended closing the consulate.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, June 17.—After conferring with President Wilson at the White House tonight Secretary Baker went into conference with Maj. Gen. Scott, chief of staff, at the war department, and later Major General Bliss, assistant chief of staff and Brig. Gen. Mills, chief of the militia division, were summoned. The three officers remained closeted with the secretary until nearly midnight. None of them would disclose the nature of their talk.

The presence of Gen. Mills was taken as confirmation that one of the first steps to be taken in the event of a clash between American and Mexican troops would be a mobilization of more national guardsmen at the border.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 17—United States army officers at headquarters here tonight regarded the Mexican situation as most serious. Assuming that the defunct Mexican government would authorize Gen. Alfredo Ricaut to carry out his threat to attack any American force that crossed the line into Mexico, some declared their belief that war is unavoidable.

Pursue Bandits Into Mexico

An opportunity to precipitate hostilities was afforded the Carranza government today when more than 300 men of the third cavalry crossed the river below Brownsville in pursuit of bandits who attacked a little detachment of the 26th infantry at San Benito last night. Gen. James Parker, commanding at Brownsville, sent cavalry scouring the country in the vicinity of San Benito and on hot trail discovered by Lieut. Newman, commanding troop H, the Americans were sent toward the border. The trail led across the river and Lieut. Newman led his men across the line in the forenoon.

Major Anderson, with a squadron of the third cavalry and a machine gun company closed in on the same trail and early in the afternoon followed Lieut. Newman into Mexico. He was too late for the fight that had taken place. H. troop engaged the bandits almost immediately after crossing the river but Gen. Parker indicated that no one on either side was killed. The bandits fled after a short skirmish.

St. Paul on the Mexican Side

The pursuit was continued and late today Major Anderson had moved his force up the river toward Matamoros, the Mexican town opposite Brownsville. He still was on the Mexican side tonight.

Gen. Parker reported that he had sent to Consul Garza in Brownsville, a note informing him that American troops had crossed the international boundary line in conformity with the spirit of the agreement between the two countries, authorizing the passage of troops when on a "hot trail" in pursuit of bandits. He also called the attention of the consul to the fact that the bandits had been run back to a district which American authorities had long insisted was a rendezvous of outlaws.

After an allnight chase Lieut. Newman's troops ran the bandits from a point east of San Benito, 15 miles to the bank of the Rio Grande near the San Pedro ranch. Here the Mexican party apparently divided, one section crossing the river above the ranch and the other below. The cavalry followed by the northern route.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS CLOSE ENCAMPMENT

GEORGE F. LEE OF EVANSTON IS NAMED DEPARTMENT COMMANDER

Screator Gets 1917 Encampment—Name Special Committee to Cooperate With Veterans—Preparedness Conference

Chicago June 17.—The thirteenth annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans, department of Illinois, came to an end this evening with a monster parade in Woodlawn, the southside residential district, which entertained the visitors who were present from more than 35 cities and towns in the state.

George F. Lee of Evanston, a veteran of the Sioux Indian campaign, in which occurred the battle of Wounded Knee, and of two wars and three military campaigns since then, was elected department commander.

B. F. Bliss, of Springfield, was elected senior vice commander and Dwight Loughborough of Chicago was elected junior vice commander.

As it is a rule of the organization that no one shall be elected department commander until he shall have served as junior vice department commander, an interesting contest developed for that position, in which eleven candidates were presented by as many camps.

Dr. H. J. Jameson of Chicago was chosen department surgeon by acclamation; Michael Kelly of Chicago was elector department inspector; William Ortman, of Chicago, was elected department marshall and Rev. A. J. Jameson, of Champaign, received the majority of the votes for department chaplain.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Gen. James E. Stuart, representing National Commander L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, who was unable to attend the encampment.

Martin Sipple of Elgin, was re-appointed department adjutant. Commander Lee announced that appointments to his staff would not be made until after the closing of the summer instruction camp at Fort Henry Harison.

A special committee was appointed to co-operate with the Veterans Preparedness Conference in an endeavor to recruit speedily the United States Veterans Legion, an auxiliary created to observe the military strength which lies in the ranks of those who have seen service in the army, navy and marine corps.

General Joe Wheeler Camp, of Joliet, which brought a large band and a delegation of more than fifty veterans, was awarded the first prize for making the best appearance at the encampment.

The next annual meeting will be held in Streator in June, 1917.

CAMPAGN TO PREPARE AMERICAN FACTORIES PROCEEDS SWIFTLY

NEW YORK, June 17.—The nation-wide campaign to prepare American factories for war mobilization inaugurated several weeks ago by the United States Naval Consulting Board's committee on industrial preparedness, is proceeding "swiftly" and "satisfactorily," the committee announced today. Already most of the 400,000 leading industrial concerns of the country have notified the committee of their mobilization possibilities, it was stated, and the thirty thousand engineers in charge of the field work daily are sending to the committee's headquarters here, hundreds of filled in inventories to manufacture war material.

The response of the manufacturers shows the "most intelligent patriotism" and the "deepest interest," the committee says.

WHAT DID YOU AND MARION SAY AFTER YOU WENT TO BED?

"We planned to go to college, and we talked about going camping."

ON CROSS EXAMINATION ATTORNEY RALPH F. POTTER ASKED:

"Did she ever tell you of any improper intimacy with any boy or man?"

"No."

"Was there any discussion about Will Orpet at night, after you had retired?"

"Yes, sir."

"Something was said about his engagement to Miss Youker, wasn't there?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did Marion say about it?"

"She didn't know whether to believe it or not."

"What did she say?"

"She said Josephine and she had written a letter but that she had no answer, so she did not know what to think about it."

"Did she say anything about following the matter up to ascertain the truth?"

"She said she was going to see him and find out. She said he was coming down to Lake Forest."

"How long did your conversation with Marion last?"

TALKED UNTIL 2:30 A.M.

"Until about 2:30 in the morning."

"Is that all of the conversation you can remember?"

"We talked about where she had seen him before and different things."

"What were the different things?"

"About him being down and where he stayed. About his character; how he acted; his temper. She expected to hear he would be there some time Tuesday. She didn't know where she would see him. She said she would see him and find out whether he was engaged. If he was she didn't know what she would do, but she would tell me more about it at the end of the week—Thursday or Friday."

"Now, Miss Russell," warned the attorney, "you understand we are under oath to tell all the truth?"

"Yes, I can't think of anything more right now."

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION BROUGHT OUT A REFERENCE TO ORPET'S TEMPER, AND ON RE-CROSS EXAMINATION MR. POTTER ASKED WHAT MARION SAID ABOUT IT. WITNESS REPLIED:

"She said he used to get very ardent, so much so that he lost his temper. She said she liked to see his temper so she could get the better of him."

"She liked to see that, did she?"

"Yes."

Did Not Complain of Temper.

"She was not complaining of his temper then, as being an undesirable thing?"

"No."

"She was not complaining of it as ever having done her any physical damage, was she?"

"No, she referred to it simply in connection with his ardent nature, which she liked."

"Anything else?"

"She spoke of Josephine Davis. She thought Jo liked Orpet."

REPLYING TO A QUESTION FROM THE STATE'S ATTORNEY, WITNESS SAID:

"I report Monday."

TEN GIRLS TESTIFY IN CASE OF ORPET

Florence Russel, Who Spent Night With Marion, Tells of Their Talk About Orpet

DISCUSSED ORPET'S TEMPER

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 17.—Ten school girls testified for the state today in the case of William H. Orpet, the University of Wisconsin student who is charged with the murder of Marion Lambert.

All were at Marion's birthday party Feb. 6, three days before her death, and all testified that she was cheerful and happy. Tears came to their eyes, they said, as they did to those of Anna Paulson, because the latter could not spend the night with her, as had been a birthday custom with them for years.

The most interesting testimony came from Florence Russell, who slept that night with Marion, and they talked much of Will Orpet, of his love and of his temper, too.

"What did you and Marion say after you went to bed?"

"We planned to go to college, and we talked about going camping."

There are evidences that the Democrats are seeking for some effective substitute for a protective tariff, as they have foresight enough to see the foreign goods onslaught which will follow the close of the war. These efforts are shown in their attention to dyestuff production and their desire for a tariff commission. It will be a vain effort, for there is no way to meet the competition of the cheap European labor except thru a protective tariff.

Mexican Crisis Again.

The most vulnerable attack of the present administration has been the manner of handling the Mexican situation. Conditions across the border are growing constantly more acute and time is proving the fallacy of the administration's policy in declaring that there is no real danger there and in giving assurance to the public that the commercial relations for a time suspended can be safely resumed. The defiant attitude which Carranza has taken, the repeated attacks which Mexican bands make upon American citizens, are fast getting the Mexican situation into such condition that the government must take some more decisive action and must admit that the policy thus far pursued has been wholly wrong.

The President's Changing View.

If the old adage is true that "Wise men change their minds and fools never," there is not much reason for criticizing President Wilson, who has shown decided changes of attitude during the last two years. Nevertheless, there is the temptation to quote the president's recent utterances on national defense and compare them with statement previously made. It was in December, 1914, that the president, speaking on national defense, said, "But I turn away from the subject. It is not new, there is no new thing to discuss about it." Then fourteen months later he said, "I say to you in all solemnity that there is not a day to be lost, not because of any new or critical matter, but I can not tell what will happen in twenty-four hours." After the Villa raid at Columbus, General Funston called for an adequate disposition of troops on the border. President Wilson confessed that the United States did not have in readiness enough troops to patrol the dividing territory between

THE ROSEBUSH

The bush where on the blushing rose, when things are favorable, grows, is looking sick and blue; to keep the bush from going dead, I give it arsenate of lead, and London purple, too. I wash the stem with kerosene, and dope the leaves with Paris green, and other compounds weird; and as I use the poisoned dope, I feel the shriveling of hope, and tears stream down my beard. And as I tell I wonder why the lovely things must always die, without a good excuse, the jimson and the mullein thrive; the cockleburs are still alive—you cannot cook their nose. A Keats will perish in his youth, while some old cross-roads bard, forsooth, will live two hundred years; a horse dies early, as a rule, but for a century the mule will wag its misfit ears. The cow that gives all kinds of milk, whose butterfat is fine as silk, will seek a railway track, and there she'll stand and chew her gums, until a locomotive comes, and telescopes her back. Dith thoughts like these I stand and spray my dying rosebush every day, and know it's all in vain, for everything that's lively dies, and man can only swat the flies in sorrow and pain.

North Sea Battle Facts.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republicans says that in admitting the loss of two more warships in the naval battle off the coast of Jutland, one of them the battle cruiser Lutzow, the German admiralty weakens one's confidence in the truthfulness of any of its official reports by stating that the facts had been hitherto suppressed for military reasons. The same kind of reasons may be causing the denial of the loss of still more warships; indeed, one cannot ever be sure that the whole truth concerning the German losses has been told. A presumption is at least created that British estimates of the German losses are nearer to the facts than any official statement coming from Berlin. A test of the sincerity of the German claim of a victory, as Mr. Ealfour suggests, will be the readiness of the kaiser's fleet in the near future to come out for another trial of strength. The complete mastery of the North sea can be had by successfully fighting for it.

Baseball's Anniversary.

It is said that tomorrow will be the seventieth anniversary of baseball in this country, that is, so far as match games are concerned. The Klieckerbokers were organized in New York by Alexander Cartwright, who originated the present baseball diamond, and they crossed bats with the New York club at Hoboken. It is related that the New York team won the game by the score of 21 to 1, for the rules provided at that time that the winning team was the one which first scored 21 runs. That was the beginning of baseball and it was years afterward before the game was organized on its present commercial basis. Organization has served in large measure to develop the game altho at the same time it has robbed it of some of its "sport" elements and made it a business in which millions are invested. Last year there were some indications that public interest in the national sport was waning. The reasons generally assigned were that commercial features have been so much emphasized that the public was disgusted and the other reason was that business depression interfered largely with the attendance. Indications for this year show a revival of interest and larger attendance, taken together with the fact that business enterprises are running full blast gives emphasis to the belief that hard times had more to do than anything else with the falling off in attendance.

SHEPPARD-REA WEDDING WILL BE SOLEMNIZED THIS FORENOON

Ceremony Will Be Said at Murrayville by the Rev. C. S. McCollom
Porter-Forwell Nuptials Solemnized Saturday Evening.

The marriage of Bryan Sheppard and Miss Lyndall Rea will take place this forenoon at 10:30 o'clock at Murrayville M. E. church parsonage, the Rev. C. S. McCollom officiating. After the ceremony an informal reception will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Sheppard and the young people will leave later in the day for Waverly where they will make their home.

The ceremony this forenoon will be a quiet one, witnessed only by relatives of the bride and groom. By reason of recent ill health on the part of Mrs. James Rea, mother of the bride, it was decided to have the rites as simple as might be possible and all plans for a formal wedding at the bride's home were laid aside.

The bride is a young woman of talent and charm and the words of congratulation bestowed upon her will be many and sincere. She received her education in the public schools and in Murrayville high school and in the neighborhood of her home is highly respected for her womanly demeanor and industry.

The groom also was reared in the Murrayville vicinity and is held to be one of the most able young farmers of the community. He is a young man of steady integrity and good habits, with every promise of continued success in all his undertakings.

Saturday afternoon a miscellaneous shower for the prospective bride was given by Miss Alma Story and Miss Alma Mutch at the home of A. P. Vasconcellos, 324 East College street. Miss Lida Forwell of this city became the bride of John Rue Porter of Bloomington. Dr. Joseph R. Harker, president of Illinois Woman's College, at which the bride recently was a student, read the service, making use of the ring ceremony. The couple were unattended. The rite was performed as the wedding party stood before a bank of Madona lilies and gladioli. The costume of the bride was white taffeta, with trimmings of silk lace.

On arrival at the station the delegations were met by some one of the local or suburban lodges and escorted to their various headquarters. Many of the visiting bodies have brought their own bands or drum corps with them, and the scenes at the stations are those of gayety and pleasure.

For more than a year the local committee of reception and entertainment, composed of the most prominent and active Templars in this jurisdiction, has been preparing for the advent of the mighty hosts that will sojourn in this city and suburbs for the next six days, and even thus early the tens of thousands of strangers are willing to admit that its work has been well done.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the present conclave, since it is to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the order in the United States. DeWitt Clinton, prominent in the nation's early history, was the first eminent commander in the United States, taking the office in New York in 1816.

The conclave program is to be ushered in tonight with a grand electrical illumination and the entrancing, magnificent pageant, "The Flight of the Hours," comprising nearly a score of handsome floats and 200 of Los Angeles' most beautiful women and glowing with 300,000 electric lights.

Monday will see the formal opening of the conclave, the exchange of greetings, and the beginning of the business sessions. Tuesday will be the day of the grand parade—the most impressive military spectacle, it is expected, that has ever been seen on the Pacific coast. The parade is to be followed by daylight fireworks at the amphitheatre and in the afternoon the visitors are to enjoy a Wild West show and athletic carnival.

Tuesday evening the members of the grand encampment and the members of the executive and banquet committees will sit at a banquet in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. The menu and appointments are to be typical of California.

Next to the grand parade the spectacular features of the week will be the competitive drills, which will be held in the huge amphitheatre in West Twelfth street, where grand stands have been erected to accommodate 20,000 spectators. Trophies valued at $12,500 will be awarded at the drills. The awards are six in number and each is a triumph of the silversmith's or bronze worker's art.

MAINE TO CHOOSE CANDIDATES

Augusta, Me., June 17.—A general primary election is to be held in Maine next Monday for the selection of complete tickets from United States senator and governor down to county officers. The campaign which closed today has been one of the most interesting and one of the most spirited, on the Republican side, that the Pine Tree State has seen in years.

The fact that Governor Curtis, United States Senator Johnson, and other of the principal incumbents are unopposed for renomination, has served to center public attention on the Republican fight. The primaries will bring to a climax a hotly contested struggle for supremacy among various leaders and factions of the Republican party, with the governorship, carrying control of the State, and a United States senatorship, as the grand prizes. The outlook for the Republican success has materially brightened by a healing of the breach between the Republican regulars and the Progressives, and this has led to an unusually large number of candidates for the various places on the Republican ticket.

The candidates for the Republican nomination for governor are: Frederick H. Parkhurst of Bangor, Edward W. Wheeler of Brunswick, Carl B. Milliken of Island Falls, Alexander C. Haggerty of Ellsworth, and Timothy F. Callahan of Lewiston. For the Republican senatorial nomination the aspirants are former Governor Bert M. Fernald, Col. Frederick Hale of Portland, and Ira G. Hersey of Houlton.

One is Richard Tapscott, a brother of Mrs. Zachary and the other is Marion Zachary of Milo, Oklahoma, a brother of Mr. Zachary. Both are quite elderly gentlemen and are very welcome guests at the several homes they are visiting. Mr. Zachary was a soldier in the army of the Cumberland and saw much hard service while the history and sufferings of the family in Tennessee are well known.

FUNERAL OF MRS. W. B. REXROAT IS HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Rev. G. W. Flagg Conducts Services
—Interment is Made in Arcadia Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. W. Bailey Rexroat were held from the family residence, 503 East College ave., Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in charge of the Rev. G. W. Flagg, pastor of Centenary church. Dr. F. A. McCarty assisted in the service. Dr. McCarty offered the opening prayer and made a few remarks on the problem of human suffering and the assurance of God's wisdom in guiding us thru it. The music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Rapp, Mrs. A. C. Baldwin and A. C. Metcalf. There were many beautiful flower offerings and these were tenderly cared for by Mrs. T. B. Clampit, Mrs. H. C. Busby, Mrs. Clyde Richardson and Mrs. Guy Lynn.

The Rev. Flagg took his text from Matthew 25:6.

"At midnight there is a cry, Behold the Bridegroom! Come ye forth to meet him." The Rev. Flagg said in part:

"In the parable of the wise and foolish virgins they hear the call to join the marriage procession at midnight; it was at the midnight hour this soul heard the call of the multitude in the unseen world to join them in their procession. 'The call to the virgins in the parable came as a surprise; so it did to this soul, with this difference: To the virgins of the parable the call came earlier than expected, to this mother it came much later than she thought it would come. They of the parable slept because they thought the call would not be soon, and time passed more rapidly than they knew; this soul may be said, figuratively, to have sat far into the night listening for the call, and was surprised it tarried so long."

"For two years Mrs. Rexroat was preparing for the summons from eternity to join its hosts. She knew she must go—that there was no cure for her illness, though no possible remedy was left untried—and she made every possible earthly as well as spiritual preparation. To do so was accounted sensible and practical by all her friends. No doubt each of us would do likewise if we knew we had but a year or two to live. May it not be true that we are called together here at the end of that two years of preparation to look at it in the light of this text, and read something like this out of it?"

"Our whole lifetime should be one constant preparation for the call we know is surely coming. Our task is to make such preparation the sensible, interesting, and helpful manner of living the everyday life, so that everyone can see that is the natural thing for every right-minded person to do."

"That was a happy midnight for the wise virgins of the parable, and we are sure it was a happy midnight for this soul, when she heard the voices of those in the Bridegroom's procession calling her from suffering to participate in their happiness. And we are reminded it is that supreme love for Him who is the Bridegroom that makes that company one, and their dwelling place heaven."

Interment was in Arcadia cemetery, the new auto funeral livery of the Cherry establishment being used. The bearers were: Edward M. Dunlap, Clyde Richardson, W. E. Boston, A. C. Metcalf, Henry Muehlhausen and Frank J. Garland.

DENTISTS TO AID PATRIOTISM
Buffalo, N. Y., June 17.—The Preparedness League of American Dentists, with headquarters in this city, has opened a registration bureau in the hope of enrolling twenty thousand dentists who will each one agree to prepare, free of charge, the mouth of at least one applicant to meet the requirement for enlisting in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, and subject to such rules as shall protect them against imposition.

The standard of enlistment for the United States Marine Corps requires the applicant to have at least twenty sound teeth, with four opposed molars and four opposed incisors. Properly filled teeth are counted as sound, and many men now rejected for defective teeth will be saved to the "First Line of Defense," by the patriotic members of the Dentists' Preparedness League, is the belief of League officials.

Dr. J. W. Beach, of Buffalo, is chairman of the registration committee.

MEXICAN AND RAILROAD LABOR SITUATIONS DEPRESS STOCKS

Prices of Leading Issues Recede from Substantial Fractions to a Point.

New York, June 17.—There was little in today's short and dull session to justify extended or specific comment. Prices of leading stocks receded from substantial fractions to a point, under the adverse influence of the Mexican and railroad labor situations, while certain specialties, notably Mexican Petroleum, New York Air Brake, General Electric, Pressed Steel Car and several of the others were lower by 2 to 3 points. Partial recoveries from these levels occurred before the close but the undertone was inclined to heaviness. Total sales of stocks amounted to only 220,000 shares.

Inflow of gold from Canada amounted to $4,000,000 bringing the total movements from across the border up to $61,500,000 and another small export of the metal to Cuba, presumably in connection with the sugar industry, was reported. Mercantile agencies noted further gradual contraction of business in certain lines, but trade in general is booked up for many months to come. Prices of various products, following the tendency of fabricating iron and steel, are inclined to ease off.

There was a further shading of exchange rates on Berlin and Vienna. Sterling and francs virtually were unaltered, with light dealings.

The bank statement showed a further reduction of actual loans, which decreased by more than $20,000,000 with a gain of as much in cash and an increase of about $21,500,000 in excess reserves, bringing that item up to almost $94,000,000 as against $56,000,000 early in the month.

EXTREME WEAKNESS AND SUFFERING

Read How Mrs. Goodling got Relief and Strength.

York, Pa.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found it to be all you say it is. I was so sick that I could not stand at my sink to wash dishes and I could not sit without a pillow under me. I had the doctor every few days but since I have taken the Compound I don't have to send for him. I have had three children and could not raise any of them, but since I have taken the Compound I have a bright baby boy. I advise every suffering woman to try it and get relief. It has done wonders for me."—Mrs. CATHARINE GOODLING, 138 E. King Street, York, Pa.

When a medicine has been successful in bringing health to so many, no woman has a right to say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Goodling, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

If there are any complications you don't understand, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Capt. Swales Talks

Dear Journal: I can hardly tell you how much I appreciate your visitation up here among the "hypophenates" on the northwest side of the great "melting pot," meaning Chicago, which is, without question, the most cosmopolitan city on earth. It is not too much to say that every nation and every clime is represented in this vast bazaar by the great inland sea, Lake Michigan, and more are coming with every ship that plows the foaming billows of the Atlantic. This seems to be the Mecca of all the restless souls beyond the ocean who desire to better their condition in this land of the free and the home of the multitudinous "hypophenates," who make Chicago their habitat, which leads me to remark that most of those who land here should be cast into the melting pot and go through a process of being hard boiled—boiled till the hypophenates come to the surface so that they can be skimmed off and cast into the ash heap or municipal dumping ground.

There ought to be room for only one class of home seekers, and that class should consist only of those who will leave their allegiance to emperors and kings on the other side of the sea. We are either Americans or are a conglomerate aggregation of "hypophenates" who do not know the underlying principles of Americanism minus the hyphen. God only knows how we need the true Americanism of our fathers who made us a nation in the days of '76 and preserved us in the awful crisis of the early sixties. In those perilous days, when the lurid flames of war are devastating half the civilized world, this land should stand as a unit in defense of what our fathers handed down to us from Bunker Hill to Appomattox. There is no half-way position as between our country and those who are in a death grapple in Europe. We are either loyal to the flag, or we are not, in the great crisis now shaking the world as it has never been shaken before since time began. As it was in the days of the Civil war, there are only two parties today—patriots and traitors.

We are either for America or we are against it. If there is to be any pros in this country, let us be pro-American to the last drop of blood that pulsates the loyal American heart. It is our only salvation and on it rests the future hope of the republic.

Hot air and platitudinous political platforms amount to nothing, as the latter are, as a rule, more honored in the breach than in the observance. For example, the single term for president, as enunciated in the Baltimore convention which nominated the expert note writer and watchful waiter, meaning the present occupant of the chair in which sat Washington, Lincoln, Grant and the Prince of Peace, President McKinley. Platforms mean nothing. Patriotism, the kind that gave us a republic in the days of '76 and that which cemented the Union at Gettysburg and Appomattox, means everything at the present critical time when a spark from the great world war is liable to draw us into the great maelstrom of red destruction now devastating millions of homes in the old world beyond the sea. "United we stand, divided we fall."

June 14 was flag day—a day set apart in honor of Old Glory. Perhaps one in ten thousands of Chicago's vast population gave the matter a thought. Down in the loop, where there ought to have been thousands, a paltry 221 were thrown to the breeze. All of which indicates that patriotism in this great metropolis is at a very low ebb. The average denizen of the melting pot is too busy skirmishing for the shekels of Comrade W. J. Moore, senior vice commander of Matt Star post. His departure reminds me that the Styx is not far off for all of us who took part in the Civil war. In the very nature of things, our time is about up and the Grim Sergeant is rapidly calling for roll for the last time for those who bore down the flag to victory in the tragic days of the sixties. And as each one takes his place in the silent halls of death, it is a consolation to know that the defenders of the Union leave to future generations a heritage of loyalty and devotion beyond and above money value, and a debt of gratitude that can never be cancelled by those who profit by their heroic sacrifices in the days that tried men's souls.

NEW METHOD OF MAKING ANTI-HOG-CHOLERA SERUM

Specialists Find Way to Produce a Clear, Sterilized Product Free From Foot-and-Mouth Virus.

Washington, D. C., June 13—A new method of preparing anti-hog-cholera serum, which permits the economical production of a clear sterilized product, has just been described in the Journal of Agricultural Research of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The advantage claimed for the new method is that it makes possible the production of an anti-hog-cholera serum which can be quickly sterilized by heat to a point that will absolutely kill any germs of foot-and-mouth disease and so yield a serum that is absolutely safe even if taken from a hog which might harbor foot-and-mouth disease and yet give no indication of being infected.

Method Described.

The method, as described by the discoverers, Dr. Marion Dorset and R. R. Henley, of the Biochemical Division, Bureau of Animal Industry, consists in adding a slight amount of an extract from ordinary, white raw beans to the defibrinated hog-cholera-immune blood which has been the form of the serum used in the past.

The addition of this bean extract causes the red cells of the blood to agglutinate and when the mixture is whirled on a centrifuge the red cells pack together and form a rather stiff jelly-like mass. It is then possible to pour off a clear serum, leaving behind the red cells which play no part in preventing hog cholera and which in fact simply tend to dilute the serum and render its sterilization by heat impracticable. To increase the yield of clear serum the discoverers added a small amount of ordinary salt and found that they obtained from 70 to 74 per cent of clear serum. The clear serum thus obtained it was found could be heated for 30 minutes at a temperature of 68 degrees Centigrade without changing its consistency or lessening in any way its effectiveness in preventing hog cholera. The heating to this point for this time is more than sufficient to kill any germs of foot-and-mouth disease which might accidentally be present. Practical tests with hogs show that probably all of the antibodies useful in combating hog cholera were retained in the serum and the red cells extracted contained so few, if any, of these valuable bodies as to make the residue of red cells useless in preventing the disease.

Difficulty of Heating Serum.

Before the clear serum was developed, many attempts were made to sterilize by heat in a practical way the ordinary defibrinated blood. It was found, however, that heating the old product up to 60 degrees Centigrade resulted in more or less complete coagulation of the defibrinated blood and in the destruction of the serum so far as its commercial worth is concerned. It was found that the highest temperature that could be used was 50 degrees Centigrade and it was necessary to keep the old serum at this temperature for 12 hours to make certain that the virus of foot-and-mouth disease was killed. Heating serum at a steady temperature over this long period in ordinary practice is difficult and too expensive.

Advantage of Clear Serum.

Attempts also were made to make a clear serum by centrifuging. It was found, however, that while the centrifuge would separate to some extent the red cells, they were in such shape that it was difficult to separate the serum completely. An important quantity of antibodies were left behind in the red clot, and the resulting product was a cloudy rather than a clear serum. With this process, moreover, it was possible ordinarily to secure only about 50 per cent of serum. Under the new method it is possible to secure as high as 74 per cent of clear serum, which in actual test has proved to be fully potent. This clear serum, moreover, can be completely sterilized in 30 minutes, whereas the old serum had to be heated steadily for 12 hours.

The new form of serum, as far as the Department knows is not yet being made or put on sale by the commercial serum laboratories. As this process was discovered by the Federal government, any one in the United States is free to use it.

Machinery Improvement.
It is quite probable that the next great advance in farm machinery improvement will come in the form of roller bearings for all surfaces doing heavy duty. Experience with automobiles has shown farmers the advantages of such bearings and that many of them are interested is evidenced by the inquiries some manufacturers have already received. We have no definite information regarding the general application of roller bearings to farm machinery, nor have we technical knowledge of their practicability, but some think their use will be widespread within a few years and they are not without good reasons for so thinking. It is certain that a machine fully equipped with roller bearings would pull more easily than a machine without them, eliminating much strain on horses and consequently sore shoulders, and if properly cared for wearing longer because of smoother running. It can readily be imagined what a difference roller bearings would make in such machines as grain binders, mowers, manure spreaders, silage cutters, etc., and if the cost of such equipment is not prohibitive, and we have been told that it is not, it is sure to become commonly used.

HOGS ON PASTURE

Pork Production Cost Reduced—Supplemental Grain Ration Desirable—Composition of Pasture Forage

The cost of pork is reduced materially by the use of pasture and forage crops, but it is desirable to feed grain or other concentrated feed in addition. In some sections of the country where pastures are luxuriant, mature hogs are maintained in an apparently satisfactory condition on pasture alone. This practice should not be followed, however, in the case of young, growing pigs, because they will become thin in flesh and stunted if compelled to live on pasture alone.

Hog raisers differ widely regarding the quality of grain that should be fed to hogs while on pasture. Some feeders give them all they will consume. Others feed a ration equal to about 2 or 3 per cent of the live weight of a hog. Still others will allow pigs to run on pasture and feed them a 1 per cent grain ration. There is no fixed rule governing the supplemental grain ration which should be fed in combination with forage. The amount of grain fed depends upon the kind of pasture used, the price of grain, and the market.

Pasture forage has a variable composition. Alfalfa, clover, vetch, and peas furnish feed much richer in protein than most other crops. Where hogs are feeding on leguminous pasture they require less concentrated feed than when grazing upon non-leguminous pasture such as timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda or bluegrass. In the early stages of growth the cereals may be classed as nitrogenous forages. A farmer may have more hogs than his pasture will accommodate. When this is the case, the pasture will last longer if a full grain ration is fed. The more grain a hog consumes, the less forage he will eat.

When grain is high, it is rather expensive to feed a supplemental grain ration. At such times there is a great temptation to place the hogs upon pasture alone. This practice will hardly ever pay, for it generally takes more grain and more time to finish off the hogs than if they had been fed a liberal grain ration while on pasture.

The amount of grain used will also depend upon the length of time the feeder has in which to fit the hogs for market. Hogs that are marketed from 10 to 12 months old are usually maintained on pasture alone during the grazing season. If any grain is given at all it is very light. In this way the greater percentage of growth is made from the cheaply grown forage. Where rapid finishing is desired, the liberal use of grain is important.

Profit and Number of Acres.
The size of business often has much to do toward making the farm profitable. Farm management records show that farms are often either too small or too large for the most successful farming. There may be too few as well as too many acres. A man may not have enough land or he may be "land poor," thereby rendering all his acres unprofitable.

About 30 years ago a Wisconsin farmer with a large family was deeply in debt. His farm consisted of 120 acres, half of which was under the plow. The remainder was woodland and expensive to clear. For 12 years the farmer had not been quite able to meet his interest. To him the whole farm consisted of unprofitable acres. He finally decided that the farm was too small for the most efficient use of the labor available. Having an opportunity, he bought an adjoining 80 acres of cleared land, going in debt the full amount of the purchase price. From that time on the farm was prosperous, and in 10 years the entire farm was paid for and enough additional money saved to build a good house and barn. During this period there had been no great change in prices of farm products. The smaller farm had been unprofitable because the overhead expenses were too high for so small a business. In this case acres were made profitable by increasing their number.

In the early nineties a North Dakota farmer owned 3 quarter sections of land. His farm was quite heavily mortgaged and for a number of years he had not been able to pay interest in full. His family was small and for most of the work he had to depend on hired help. He concluded that under the circumstances he was working, or trying to work, too many acres. Finally he sold a quarter section and paid his debts. Seven years later he had $5,000 in the bank. Increased prices of farm products during this period only account in part for this farmer's increased prosperity. In this case all the acres had been unprofitable largely because there were too many of them.—J. C. McDowell, in Yearbook.

Holstein Bulls for Illinois Dairies.
Commissioner W. Scott Matthews of the Illinois dairy and food department, is in the unusual position of owning some fifty or seventy five pure bred registered Holstein bulls for disposition in Illinois. It happened in this way: When Commissioner Matthews attended the convention of the national Holstein-Friesian association held at Detroit, he asked for financial assistance for the promotion of the dairy movement in Illinois. At the conclusion of his address Secretary Houghton explained that the organization was a national one and to vote an appropriation for any one state would be in violation of the rules. He suggested, however, that members could aid in the work being done in Illinois by contributing as individuals if they so desired.

This suggestion met with hearty endorsement by members and the frank appeal for assistance brought a very generous response. It was very shortly afterward that a resolution was offered and adopted contributing no less than fifty registered Holstein bulls to Commissioner Matthews to dispose of as he saw fit. Although the commissioner is living in a Chicago hotel, he accepted the gift on behalf of the dairy interests of the state. Now he does not know exactly what to do with the animals but plans to have them all delivered and then hold a public sale, the proceeds to be used in the extension of the dairy movement in this state.

The cost of pork is reduced materially by the use of pasture and forage crops, but it is desirable to feed grain or other concentrated feed in addition. In some sections of the country where pastures are luxuriant, mature hogs are maintained in an apparently satisfactory condition on pasture alone. This practice should not be followed, however, in the case of young, growing pigs, because they will become thin in flesh and stunted if compelled to live on pasture alone.

Hog raisers differ widely regarding the quality of grain that should be fed to hogs while on pasture. Some feeders give them all they will consume. Others feed a ration equal to about 2 or 3 per cent of the live weight of a hog. Still others will allow pigs to run on pasture and feed them a 1 per cent grain ration.

There is no fixed rule governing the supplemental grain ration which should be fed in combination with forage.

The amount of grain used will also depend upon the length of time the feeder has in which to fit the hogs for market.

Hogs that are marketed from 10 to 12 months old are usually maintained on pasture alone during the grazing season.

If any grain is given at all it is very light.

In this way the greater percentage of growth is made from the cheaply grown forage.

Where rapid finishing is desired, the liberal use of grain is important.

The size of business often has much to do toward making the farm profitable.

Farm management records show that farms are often either too small or too large for the most successful farming.

There may be too few as well as too many acres.

A man may not have enough land or he may be "land poor," thereby rendering all his acres unprofitable.

About 30 years ago a Wisconsin farmer with a large family was deeply in debt.

His farm consisted of 120 acres, half of which was under the plow.

The remainder was woodland and expensive to clear.

For 12 years the farmer had not been quite able to meet his interest.

To him the whole farm consisted of unprofitable acres.

He finally decided that the farm was too small for the most efficient use of the labor available.

Having an opportunity, he bought an adjoining 80 acres of cleared land, going in debt the full amount of the purchase price.

From that time on the farm was prosperous, and in 10 years the entire farm was paid for and enough additional money saved to build a good house and barn.

During this period there had been no great change in prices of farm products.

The smaller farm had been unprofitable because the overhead expenses were too high for so small a business.

In this case acres were made profitable by increasing their number.

HEALTH OF INDUSTRIAL WORKERS.

SUFFRAGE NEWS LETTER

Twenty-five out of every 1,000 employees in American industries, according to recent statistics, are constantly incapacitated by sickness, the average worker losing approximately nine days each year on this account. This "non-effective rate" for the great army of industrial workers in the United States barely suggests the total money loss to employers and employees. The lessened efficiency, the effects of reduced earnings in times of sickness, as well as the cost of medical attention, and the economic loss from deaths, swell the cost to industry and to the Nation to almost incalculable figures.

That much of this loss is nothing less than preventable waste and that this waste can be largely reduced by a properly conducted system of governmental health insurance for wage workers are conclusions set forth in Public Health Bulletin No. 76, containing the results of a study of "Health Insurance—Its Relation to the Public Health," just issued by the United States Public Health Service.

The preventive value of health insurance is given especial emphasis in this study. "Any system of health insurance for the United States or any State should at its inception have prevention of sickness as one of its fundamental purposes," says the bulletin. "This country should profit by the experience of European countries where prevention is being recognized as the central idea necessary to health insurance is to attain its greatest success in improving the health and efficiency of the industrial population."

Such a system, it is pointed out in the bulletin, would Provide cash benefits and medical service for all wage-earners in times of sickness, much less cost than is now possible. Adequate medical relief would thus be placed within the reach of even the lowest paid workers who are most subject to ill-health.

Distribute the cost among employers, employees, and the public as one group responsible for disease-causing conditions and afford these groups a definite financial incentive for removing these conditions. This can be done by means of small weekly payments from employees, supplemented by proportionate contributions from employers and government at a rate reducible in proportion to the reduction of sickness.

Become an effective health measure by linking the co-operative efforts of the three responsible groups with the work of National, State and local health agencies, and by utilizing these agencies in the administration of the health insurance system.

Afford a better basis for the co-operation of the medical profession with public health agencies.

Eliminate the elements of paternalism and charity-giving by making employees and the public, as well as employers, joint agents in the control of this fund.

A governmental system of health insurance, "concludes the study, "can be adapted to American conditions and when adapted will prove to be a health measure of extraordinary value."

FOREST NOTES.

It is estimated that there is enough waste from the sawmills of the South alone to produce twenty thousand tons of paper a day.

Oiled paper has been found to be an excellent material for packing tree seedlings, when shipped in crates. When crates are not used, paper-lined burlap makes a particularly satisfactory wrapper.

The value of livestock dying from disease on the National Forest ranges in 1915 was less than $200,000. A majority of the cattlemen are now vaccinating their stock for blackleg, one of the chief loss-causing cattle diseases of the West, and thus preventing the serious losses of the past.

Because of the heavy snowfalls last winter, Forest rangers found it necessary this spring to remove two feet of snow from the Beaver Creek Nursery in Utah, so that the young trees might be uncovered by the time they were needed for spring planting on the National Forests of that region. Part of the snow was taken off by use of shovel and pick. By spreading a thin layer of fine soil over another part, the natural melting of the snow was hastened sufficiently to make shoveling unnecessary.

MAVERICKS

The candidate wildly paws the air
And bravely talks of war and, yet,
He shies like an untamed broncho
From the smiling suffragette.

The man who has tried to wear
A palm beach suit the last few weeks
Has met up with a lot of bad luck.

While democratic orators were
Defending Wilson's policy in Mexico
A band of Mexicans raided across
The border and killed several more citizens.

The news that a delegate to the Democratic convention dropped dead
Leads to the belief that the Democrats
Cannot stand much excitement.

The man who will invent a lawn
Mower that will operate itself is as
Assured of a great fortune.

Now that the conventions are Over we probably will find out how Things are going at Verdun.

We notice a story by Ida Tarbell
Headed, "Ida Tarbell on Roosevelt." The Head is singularly appropriate as Ida has "panned" almost every Public man in America in the last few years.

W. Kee Maxwell of the Peoria
Journal has been referring in the Journalette column of his paper to
The Republican National convention
As a managerie. We much fear that
Max and the rest of the Democrats
Will think all of the animals are on a
Rampage next November.

It might be well before the Democrats
Begin bidding for the Progressive
Vote to look after some of the Disgruntled ones in their own ranks.

With three political conventions
And the usual quota of brides June
Has about all she can carry in her
Short thirty days existence.

Headline writers are referring to
The activities of the Suffragettes at Political conventions as "drives." It
Makes one think of the battle field
Of Verdun only that the suffragettes
Are using smiles instead of shells
And bombs.

Probably the reason the Russians
Are making their present big drive
Is so that they won't be chased so Far into their own country when the Germans get warmed up and turn
Them back home.

A lot of people will believe that
The Democratic convention in St.
Louis nominated Thomas R. Marshall
For vice president. But the People who keep in close touch with Things will realize that the Republican Convention held in Chicago the Week before nominated Mr. Marshall
When it nominated Fairbanks for
Vice president. It was a clear cut
Case of "passing the buck."

OLD GLORY.

(Flag Day, 1916.)

Old banner, you've waved for a
Hundred years and more,
The lustre of your colors is as brilliant
As of yore;
The stars gleam just as brightly on
Your field of heaven's blue,
The white is just as pure a white, the Red a deeper hue!

They've tattered you and battered
You and spattered you with blood;
They've turned their hate against
You and they've dragged you thru
The mud;
But glory be, Old Glory, they could
Not stain your soul—
You grow in pride and beauty as the Ages onward roll.

You're EVERYBODY'S banner in
This land you wave above,
You wave for everybody that but
Pledges you his love;
There's none too big to glory in the Story of your fame,
There's none too poor and lowly your
Caring care to claim.

A score of races mingled in the making
Of your might,
A score of other banners blend to
Make your colors bright;
You claim the proud devotion of the Sons of alien lands,
And you bind them with a bond of
Love as strong as iron bands.

There's English blood and Irish blood
And blood from Germany,
Italian blood and Gallic blood and Blood from Hungary;
There's Viking blood and Slavic
Blood, all ready to be shed
To keep your brilliancy undimmed
And all of it is red!

You're EVERYBODY'S banner in
The land you wave above;
You wave for everybody that but
Pledges you his love.
So, spread your folds caressing
Over every loyal son,
And pulse our hundred million
Hearts in unison—as one!
—W. Kee Maxwell, Peoria Journal.

P. W. CALLAHAN IS OFFERED
HIGH SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY

Now Holds Position in Galesburg High School—Financial Affairs Trouble Board.

The board of education held a long session Saturday night for the purpose of discussing a variety of school problems. No decisive action was taken along any line save in the case of the principalship of the high school. Superintendent Perrin was authorized by the board to offer the position to P. W. Callahan of Galesburg, and an unsuccessful effort was made by Supt. Perrin to reach Mr. Callahan by telephone last night, but it is practically certain that he will accept the position on the terms offered.

Mr. Callahan was chosen by the superintendent and the board from a long list of applicants. He has been head of the mathematics department in the Galesburg high school for several years and has served as assistant principal. His record there has been excellent and the recommendations he presented to the board were of the strongest kind. This summer Mr. Callahan is spending a six week term at Chicago university for some special work.

The main object of the meeting last night was to find out exactly where the board stood financially. Until this can be determined no definite action can be taken with reference to all the salaries. Supt. Perrin talked to the board about organization plans which he wishes to put into effect. He is soon to have a conference with a committee of teachers and the course of study will be outlined for both the high school and the grades. The financial facts presented to the board were so at variance that it was determined to have an audit of the books and the finance committee was instructed to arrange for such an audit. The board is to convene again next Friday night, when Supt. Perrin will be present, and at that session some appointments will probably be made, and definite plans of school organization work made known.

SIX NEW MEET RECORDS EQUALLED AT NEW BRUNSWICK GAMES

NEW YORK, June 17.—Six new meet records were made and one equalled in the nineteen track and field events of the amateur athletic union junior metropolitan championship games at New Brunswick, N. J. today. New York Athletic club representatives won the trophy with 97 1-2 points. The Irish-American A. C. was second with 33 and the Knights of St. Anthony of Brooklyn third with 13 1-3 points. Following are the records:

One mile walk: W. J. Rolker, Irish American A. C., 6:58 1-5, former record, 7:01; 120 yards high hurdles, G. Granger, N. Y. A. C., 16 seconds, former record, 16 2-5; 440 yard run, James Roche, New Haven A. A., 50 1-5 seconds, former record, 50 3-5; 220 yard low hurdles, R. Crawford, N. Y. A. C., 25 3-5 seconds, former record 26 1-5; 440 yard high hurdles, C. A. Walsh, Knights of St. Anthony A. C., 60 3-5 seconds, former record 61 1-5; discs throw, R. G. Walker, Long Island A. C., 144 feet 8 inches, former record 134 feet 8 inches.

J. Decerne of the N. Y. A. C. won the 220 yard dash in 22 4-5 seconds, equaling the junior meet record.

CALL OUT TWO COMPANIES OF GUARD TO PROTECT PRISONERS

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 17.—Two companies of Alabama National Guard troops were sent here tonight to protect several persons arrested after the body of Judge W. T. Lawler of the Madison County Probate Court had been found today in a pool here. The sheriff refused to give his prisoners' names.

Judge Lawler had just been re-nominated on a "dry" ticket after a bitterly fought fight. The finding of his body with two bullet holes in the heart and skull crushed caused a crowd to gather about the courthouse square and while most of the people had gone to their homes tonight, excitement was still high.

The three or four men arrested were described as men prominent in the community.

SYRACUSE WINS PRINCIPAL
EVENTS OF PUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—Syracuse University eight oared crews won the two principal events of the intercollegiate regatta here late today. The freshmen rase was postponed until Monday.

In both the four-mile varsity and the junior two-mile contest, Coach Ten Eyck's oarsmen took command shortly after the start and never were headed. They swept across the finish line in perfect form with plenty of power apparently in reserve.

Cornell was second in each race and if it had not been for Coach Courtney's pupils the regatta would have been devoid of excitement for neither Columbia or Pennsylvania could give the Syracuse or Cornell eights a real battle in the twenty-second annual regatta of the inter-collegiate rowing association.

BLOCKADE ENGENDERING
FEELING OF UNEASINESS

Athens, June 17.—via London—The continued strictness of the entente allies' blockade against the Greek ports is engendering a growing feeling of uneasiness in government circles. Rumors are ripe that the entente ultimatum, which is expected to be delivered Monday, may present as an alternative to compliance with its demands the rupture of diplomatic relations between the entente allies and Greece. It is not thought that the Greek cabinet can long stand the pressure.

NINE HURT WHEN TUG RAMS EXCURSION STEAMER

New York, June 17.—Nine persons were injured today when the steamship Ben Franklin, carrying 1,000 men excursionists, was rammed by the ocean going tug Elmer Keeler in Hell Gate. The crew of the excursion boat hurried the passengers to the opposite side, thus listing the vessel so that the hole in her side was above the water line, and enabling her to reach a pier at Astoria.

ARMY OFFICERS CONSIDER SITUATION MOST SERIOUS

house in the town was closed, with the exception of one saloon. In this rendezvous were gathered Mexican army officers who gave out threats calculated to arouse the already armed population to a frenzy.

Gen. Alfredo Ricaut, commander of the Matamoros garrison, did not learn of the crossing of American troops into Mexico until after noon. He then called the population of the town together and distributed rifles, pistols and ammunition, to men, boys and even girls. By mid-afternoon at least, 1500 men were patrolling the streets under arms.

Carranza consul J. Z. Garza, stationed here, delivered early tonight Gen. Alfredo Ricaut's ultimatum to Gen. James Parker, Brownsville commander, that unless the Anderson punitive expedition was withdrawn an attack would be made by Carranza troops. Immediately afterwards Consul Garza closed the consulate and moved to Matamoros.

Confirm Trevino's Warning.

Washington, June 17.—Confirmation of Gen. Trevino's warning that any movement of American troops in Mexico, except toward the border, would be treated by the Carranza commanders as a hostile act reached the War Department late today. Secretary Baker declined to comment or to make public Gen. Trevino's message or the reply of Gen. Pershing refusing to recognize the authority of the Carranza generals over the American expedition.

While it was apparent that Gen. Pershing's reply would be backed up by officials here it was not indicated what further action the Washington government might take.

Tonight the war department had received no report on the developments at Brownsville. Officials said that if Carranza troops had made any attack on American detachments following "hot trails" over the line the Americans undoubtedly would withdraw to the American side and encroach to repel any attempt to follow.

They did not believe any counter attack would be attempted without specific orders from Washington.

Neither state nor war department officials seemed greatly agitated over Gen. Trevino's ultimatum. Secretary Lansing said the policy of the administration was unchanged.

Reply to Leave Monday

The reply to the Carranza note demanding recall of the American forces will leave by special messenger Monday for Mexico City, unless developments upset present plans.

Whether Gen. Trevino's ultimatum, said to have been presented on specific orders of Carranza, would influence President Wilson to interrupt the diplomatic exchange no official would predict.

Should the reply refusing to withdraw Gen. Pershing's expedition go by messenger, it will not be delivered for ten days or two weeks. Its text would not be made public until it had reached its destination in any event.

So far as known the war department has taken no additional steps toward mobilizing the national guard.

It became known today that several army transports are being held in readiness for use as refugee ships should the need arise. Whether any actually have been ordered to Mexican waters, officials would not say. The navy transport Hancock will go to Vera Cruz, however, as soon as she lands her marine passengers in Santo Domingo. She should reach Vera Cruz in a few days.

Raids Create Great Excitement

Official advices have indicated that the recent border raids have created great excitement in the American colony in Mexico City. Many Americans are said to be preparing to leave. There are approximately 1,000 Americans in the Mexican capital and 1,800 in and about Tampico. As a measure of precaution the destroyer mother ship Panther and a number of destroyers have been ordered to Key West ready for a quick dash to the relief of Americans along the coast. It is understood also that other navy craft are being prepared for emergency use, although plans have been carefully guarded.

A message today from Major Gray of the 11th Cavalry gave further details of the fight at San Ignacio between his troops and bandits. All of the bandits are believed to have been Carranza soldiers at one time or another, he said, the it was hard to say how many still were enrolled as such. A Lieutenant's blouse was found; papers on the bodies of Mexicans bore the stamp of the Carranza army and Maj. Cruz Ruiz, believed to be a Carranza officer, was captured.

Major Gray picked up a number of rifles and ten bombs, left behind by the attackers. He also noted that ammunition used by his assailants included soft nosed bullets.

A report from Progresso, Yucatan, received at the state department, said that fourteen American residents in that section had sailed for the United States within the last few days. Officials said that departure was due probably to the efforts of consular officers who are encouraging all American citizens to leave Mexico. No mention of disturbances at Progresso or in the state of Yucatan was mentioned.

BURLINGTON WAY GUIDE
HAS BEEN ISSUED

Gives Official Information About
Auto Trail Said to be Best Marked in U. S.

The official Burlington Way guide from the press is a handy booklet of eighty pages. The booklet is designed to furnish information in condensed and convenient form for automobile tourists. In addition to general facts about the Burlington Way, which is acknowledged to be the best marked highway in the country, the names of all the cities in the several divisions are given. Then follow facts about each city, indicating the distance from St. Louis and from Burlington, Iowa, together with a statement about the special points of interest. Then in addition to these facts about each city appear advertisements of hotels, cafes, automobile garages and other business houses likely to be of special interest to automobile tourists. On the next to the title page of the booklet appears a picture of H. C. Wilhite of Greenfield, who was the original promoter of the Burlington Way and who can justly claim a large portion of credit for its development.

Jacksonville is now especially interested in this highway because W. J. Brady is the president of this association and Carl H. Weber the secretary-treasurer. These local men were elected to the offices at Burlington last year, when it was decided to hold the next annual convention in Jacksonville.

An excellent map of the Burlington Way has a place in the booklet. The soliciting work of the publication was done by Mr. Mayfield. The Burlington Way Good Roads association, the organization which is responsible for the extension and development of the way, is now one of the strongest factors in the central west for the fostering of good roads sentiment. Officers of the highway have the personal supervision of every foot of the route and in addition there are booster clubs in the various cities, towns and villages to help keep the roads in good condition. The whole work of the association is based solely on the desire for better road conditions and officers have no personal interests at stake. The time and energy are cheerfully given for the one great cause. The value of this automobile trail is constantly more apparent and Jacksonville people who have been instrumental in keeping up the interest in the association have done well for Jacksonville.

SAYS SON WASTES INCOME ON DRINK

New York, June 17.—A rather unusual proceeding took place in the supreme court today, when a justice and a jury listened to testimony concerning the habits of James Humphrey to determine whether he is a habitual drinker and whether he is incapable of managing his own affairs. While the law permits a person to have his mental and physical capacity tested in this manner, the usual proceeding is for a commissioner named by the court and a sheriff's jury to take the testimony.

Humphrey will be 30 years old on Dec. 21, 1918, when he will come into possession of a trust fund of about $400,000 left him by his father. At present he has an income from the trust fund of about $15,000 a year. His mother, Mrs. Augusta F. Partridge, has petitioned the court for the appointment of a committee to care for his person and property, on the ground that her son has become and now is a habitual drunkard, having become addicted to the habitual use of liquor, whereby he has become incapable of managing his affairs.

In an answering affidavit Humphrey denies practically every statement made by Mrs. Partridge and says much of the trouble between him and his mother to the action of his stepfather, who, he alleges, has had no occupation since he married and has squandered much of his wife's money.

WOODSON CASE DISMISSED

The case of Walter Woodson charged with grand larceny was called in Justice Dyer's court Saturday morning. A change of venue was granted to Justice Henderson's court. Justice Henderson dismissed the case giving as his opinion that there was no evidence to prove that Woodson attempted to steal the horses, wagon and harness.

The case of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Kemp who are charged with threats to do bodily injury was called in Justice Dyer's court Saturday afternoon and a continuance was granted until Saturday, June 24.

TO LAY CATHOLIC RECTORY CORNER STONE AT VIRGINIA

When the cornerstone of the new Catholic rectory at Virginia is laid, Sunday, June 25, Knights of Columbus of this city will have part in the ceremony. High mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock in the morning and there will be other services in the afternoon. The Jacksonville delegation will leave on the morning train at 7:40 and will return on the evening train. The councils of Springfield, Beardstown, Jacksonville and other cities will be present and the expectation is that fully 500 members of the order will attend. Rev. Joseph O'Dwyer, at one time an assistant in this parish, is the rector of the church at Virginia.

CENTENNIAL OF FORT ARMSTRONG

Rock Island, Ill., June 17.—A week of interesting exercises and elaborate historical pageants is to begin tomorrow in honor of the 100th anniversary of the establishment of Fort Armstrong upon Arsenal Island, midway between the cities of Moline, Rock Island and Davenport. Pageants typifying the early history of this section are planned for each day, while at night there will be land and water parades and electrical and fireworks displays. The old blockhouse erected in 1805 has been rebuilt and the battles of Credit Island and of Campbell's Island will be reproduced in detail.

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if there is anything, no matter how simple, it is seen that it can assist in any way, comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a remedy called "Mother's Friend." You apply it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and the muscles, painless, this relieves the strain on ligaments, natural expansion takes place without undue effect upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. And this is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Bradfield Peppermint Co., 807 Lamar Bluff, Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free. Write to us. It is good and enjoyed.

It is replete with important and timely topics such as a description of the nerves, muscles and parts involved, the strange mystery of a new baby, the law of contiguity, first pulsations, prefatory uneasiness, a matey chart, diet list and many other subjects briefly told but of value to all women, and particularly so to one who is to become a mother. It is mailed free to all who write for it.

Fred W. Daniels of Griggsville will teach in the high school at Westfield, Ill., Clifford H. Dixon received appointment a few days ago to the principalship at Ashland. A position as teacher of English and music has been secured by Miss Velma Dugger in the high school at Mt. Sterling. Miss Beulah Ennis will teach Latin in Petersburg high school. Among others who will probably teach are Edward Bullard, Miss Eunice Woods, Arthur Gustafson and Miss Lucille Allison.

Fairbank Smith has taken a position as an instructor in science at Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria. Paul Darragh, who completed his college work the first semester, has been re-appointed to a teaching position in Quincy.

Walter H. Heath will go to St. Louis today and Monday will take a position in the testing laboratory of the J. T. Milliken Co., a large chemical manufacturing firm. Mr. Heath expects to continue his studies in chemistry as opportunity may be offered.

Earl W. Shaffer expects to take advanced work as does Clay Elliott of this city, who is planning to enter an eastern school. Ellsworth Black will study medicine either in Washington University or Harvard University. Other members of the class, some of whom have not definitely determined upon their line of work, are Edward Alexander, Miss Ruth Brown of Modesto, Miss Carrie Dunlap, Irvin Gummersheimer of Belleville, Thomas Mangner of Kinnmundy, Roy Newberry of Mt. Vernon and Miss Julia A. Huff. Ernest Alford expects to engage in farming and for the present will be at the home of his parents, near Franklin.

GREAT WAR PICTURES COMING TO THE AIRDOME MONDAY

Preparedness as a preventative is the opinion of all in the United States. That Germany is America's schoolmaster in the art of war and practical patriotism was the sentiment agreed upon by military men and leaders in the preparedness movement.

The lessons teaching how a free democracy can become a great military power, terrible in defense of its liberties are being transmitted say these men, through the Durborough war pictures which will come to the Airdome Monday night. That they should be seen by every American is a slip in his modern education—which it is to include a realization that war is horrible—and that preparedness is one way to prevent a reoccurrence of such horrors.

"On the Firing Line with the Germans" as taken by Wilbur H. Durborough in the thick of battle has been sanctioned and authorized as the only authentic and authoritative film ever to leave Berlin with the Official Stamp of German Imperial Government.

In viewing these pictures you become entirely absorbed in the startling realism taken at points no private photographer would have cared to penetrate or would have been permitted to reach it, foolhardy enough to try. These pictures are the first pictures that show a perfect clear view of the soldiers actually fighting and driving the work on the Eastern front. The Durborough pictures have a two-fold educational value—they present a vivid portrayal of actual scenes and given the laymen an understanding of the things our Country needs—in order to meet the onslaught of a modern war. Observation and combat aeroplanes, balloons, armored automobiles, collapsible towers and other things, is the only one taken with von Hindenburg's army in Prussia. One never knows what hardships are encountered until they have gone over the field of warfare with Mr. Durborough, where over 5 million actors (the armies of seven nations) take part—with all the pomp, panoply, heroism, combined with bayonet charges, captures, retreats, cavalry dashes, artillery duels, burning villages and trench warfare—with intimate peeps at the fighting monarchs, royal families and military chiefs.

History as it is made at the Cannon's mouth being recorded by the cameras with such unmistakable accuracy that even at this distance we get the spirit of it all.

"On the Firing Line with the Germans" are the only official Motion Pictures sanctioned and endorsed by the Kaiser himself—are at once most realistic and convincing and a priceless educational opportunity the world enjoys for the first time showing just as it is.
